

Meet Rachel Michi, our Mother's Morning Out Director!

Rachel has a long background working with children, with an undergraduate degree from Coastal Carolina University in Early Childhood education, a master's degree from East Carolina University in Child Development Family Relations and post graduate work as well as a certification in Behavior Analysis. She worked in childcare centers throughout her time in undergraduate and graduate school. Rachel also worked for ten years in the public school system as a Behavior Analyst.

Rachel currently provides behavioral support to students at CREECS on an as needed basis. She returned to childcare after working full time to stay home with her own three boys and continues to have a passion for supporting the growth and development of young children.

We are so lucky to have Rachel!
